

LATE EDITOR KAWAINUI.

His Funeral Given State Features and Largely Attended.

The funeral of the late Joseph U. Kawainui, editor of the Kuokoa, took place at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Rev. H. H. Parker conducted service at the house. Interment was in Kawaiahae churchyard. The procession was headed by a platoon of police and the Government band. Pall-bearers were: John Eon, J. Lot Kaulukou, S. K. Kane, Joseph Nawahi, J. Kanakani, F. J. Testa, John E. Bush, John Nott, E. K. Lihikani and Wallace R. Farrington.

Messrs. Eon and Nott represented the Council of State, of which Mr. Kawainui was a member, and Messrs. Bush, Testa and Farrington represented the press. President Dole, Minister Hatch and King, Chief Justice Judd and Judge Cooper, with many other officials and prominent residents, attended.

Mr. Kawainui was 54 years of age, his birthplace being the island of Maui. He died suddenly at 4 o'clock in the morning, while doing some editorial work in his house. The cause was heart disease, from which he had suffered some time.

Mr. Kawainui received a sound English education at the Royal school. He learned newspaper work under H. M. Whitney, while that gentleman was publisher of the Kuokoa in the seventies. Afterward he started the Hawaii Pae Aina, conducting it for fourteen years until 1892, when the Gazette company employed him to edit the Kuokoa. He was a member of the Privy Council in Kalanikou's reign, elected Representative in the Legislature of 1887-8, and appointed a member of the Council of State of the Republic. Mr. Kawainui was an active member and Sunday school teacher of Kawaiahae church, and bore a good character in the community. His sudden death is generally regretted.

At a special meeting prior to the funeral, the Council of State passed a resolution of condolence with the widow and two children.

THE BEST TREATMENT FOR CHOLERA—When promptly and properly treated a recovery is almost certain. This was fully demonstrated during the prevalence of Cholera in New York in 1866. Go to bed as soon as the first symptoms appear, remain as quiet as possible, and take Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in double doses until the pain ceases, and then after each operation of the bowels more than natural. Send for a physician, but take this remedy in this way until he arrives. The remedy should be kept at hand ready for instant use. It should be taken within five minutes after the first symptoms appear. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is the most successful medicine that has yet been produced, not only for the milder forms of bowel complaint, but for the most virulent forms of Asiatic Cholera.
